

ABSTRACT

In general, in one aspect, the invention features a waveguide that includes a first portion extending along a waveguide axis including a first chalcogenide glass, and a second portion extending along the waveguide axis including a second chalcogenide glass, wherein 5 the second chalcogenide glass is different from the first chalcogenide glass.